

June was a month of celebration, reflection, and renewed energy, and at the ACS National Breast Cancer Roundtable, we're proud to honor it all.

June was National Cancer Survivors Month and we want to once more recognize the incredible strength, advocacy, and leadership of breast cancer survivors. Your courage in the face of diagnosis, treatment, and recovery fuels our mission to improve outcomes and advance equity across the breast cancer continuum. Thank you for being powerful lights in our community.

We also honored Pride Month and reaffirmed our commitment to ensuring inclusive, affirming, and equitable breast cancer care for all members of the LGBTQ+ community. And during Men's Health Week (June 9–15), we raised awareness that breast cancer affects people of all genders, underscoring the importance of education, screening, and support for men diagnosed with breast cancer.

As summer begins in full, we hope you take time to recharge and enjoy the long, warm days. Wishing you a joyful summer and a safe, happy holiday season!
